

Graduate Student Opportunity

POSITION IN METABOLIC PHYSIOLOGY

For applicants with an active interest in molecular physiology, biochemistry and/or molecular biology.

METABOLIC RATE DEPRESSION

Positions are available in September for studies of biochemical regulation in hibernation, estivation and anoxia survival. Molecular tools are used in gene discovery and analysis of gene expression. Protein studies focus on signal transduction: protein kinase cascades, transcription factors & enzyme control.

Contact: Dr. Ken Storey, F.R.S.C.
Canada Research Chair in Molecular Physiology

Department of Biology
Carleton University, Ottawa K1S 5B6
(613) 520-3678
kenneth_storey@carleton.ca

Check out our papers and apply at:

<http://www.carleton.ca/~kbstorey>

FULL FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR QUALIFIED APPLICANTS
Internal supplements guaranteed for NSERC/OGS winners.